

後 11:32

Time to see how you responded to this week's survey question its work honest.com. Did, the covid-19 virus originated naturally or by lab leak survey says 74. Wow, interesting. 3/4 said. A bleak with let's call it 14,000 people who cast ballots. I mean, we really don't know.

Obviously we're just weighing in and offering a gut check, but I think if I'd ask that survey question here, Three weeks ago, even it probably would have been a complete reverse. Here's hoping that we get the true answer social media response. Here's some of what came in during the course of the week. What do we have summer Cottage? I'm in the corner of who cares, really? And I really don't care that you care. A total waste and effort move on, okay? I love how it's such a wasted effort that you could, you put that back on the screen? I love how it's such a wasted effort. And this is so ridiculous. I think I'll And it by taking the time to send a tweet and tell them how ridiculous it is. That's ridiculous. What's next

Turk honest. The reason, Mitch won't derail Trump's 2024 run is because it most likely be a slam-dunk given the direction that things are going. Wow. In other words, Trump's election will be a slam dunk given the way it's going to look. This is the story. I mean Republican stop inquiry on caucuses of Capitol Hill Attack that. I read that accurately, you know what I'm talking about? So the question is, if there's no love lost between Senate minority leader, Mitch McConnell who To be Senate, Majority Leader again, and Donald Trump. Then why didn't McConnell let a 911 style commission, do his Dirty Work in other words, launch the probe and then just sit back and let it run its course. Because nothing good can come out of that investigation for former President. Donald Trump a report comes out, the report says, hey, on the afternoon of January 6. Trump's at back, watched his flat screen televisions as Rome was burning. Me and it would be so devastating that now, McConnell would get his wish, which is the, Trump would be vanquished as the 2024 candidate which is what I really think he wants. Now, the simple answer is to say yeah, but McConnell wants to be Senate Menard. Majority Leader more than anything else. He doesn't want bad news coming out at the beginning of the midterm cycle. That's true, but there's a bigger part being overlooked by everybody else and it's this McConnell knows. It wouldn't matter to the base. Even if a Setting report came out on January 6. It wouldn't matter to the base and they would still support. Donald Trump have a good Memorial Day weekend. Don't forget the purpose of the weekend. I'll see you next week.